Nora Bayes Couples
"Jerry" with "In Miami"

The contrast between these two vivid songs on a single record gives Nora a chance to show her amazing versatility in character study. From an Irish brogue to a Southern drawl is a wide jump, but it's just a melodious skylark for Nora. A 8725 37

Jolson Asks "Who Played Poker With Pocahontas?"

"When John Smith went away somebody must have fed the kitty." So Al Jolson rises melodiously to a point of disorder, and brings down the house as he inquires: "Who played poker with Pocahontas?" Coupled with "Alexander's Band is Back in Dixieland," by Harry Fox.

A-2787-85c

"Oh! What a Pal Was Mary"

Here's a good old-fashioned ballad song that's making one of the biggest sentimental hits on record. Henry Burr sings the appealing words and beautiful melody with sincere and tender feeling. Coupled with "Waiting" (from "Listen Lester"), by Charles Harrison.

LEWIS DEFIES WILSON ORDER

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Springfield, Ill., Oct. 27.—Neither President Wilson's appeal or threats by government or state authorities can avert the pending coal strike.

John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers' Union of America, gave this indication in an interview here today.

"The strike order stands," he said. "I regret President Wilson's unprecedented stand," Mr. Lewis continued. "He seemingly has been ill-advised as to our attitude."

"We have been willing and are now, to enter into immediate negotiations with the operators without reservations for the purposes of averting the strike."

Court Santa Maria. Daughters of Isabella, initiated a big class of candidates at their rooms at the K. of C. Home on Sunday afternoon in the presence of a large assembly. During the impressive service of initiation, Miss Elizabeth Cusack sang delightfully "Ave Maria," by Millard, being accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Henry Hoag, organist of the chapter. Inspiring talks were given by the district deputy, Mrs. J. W. Leary, the vice regent, Miss Winifred Sullivan and the district grand regents, Mrs. Tynan of Catskill and Miss Burg of Newburgh. There were many guests from both Catskill and Newburgh. Following the initiation, refreshments were served.

French Memoirs.

The French surpass every other nation indeed all the other nations of Europe put together in the amount of excellence of their memoirs. Hence comes this manifest superiority. The important collection relating to the history of France, commencing as early as the thirteenth century, forms a basis of civil history. The authentic, circumstantial and satisfactory to an intelligent inquirer can be found among any other people. And the multitude of biographies, personal anecdotes and similar scattered notices, which have appeared in France during the two last centuries, throw a flood of light on the social habits and general civilization of the period in which they were written.—William H. Prescott.

Froghoppers.

The chief menace to sugar cane in the West Indies is the froghopper, an insect that sucks the sap from the root and leaves of the sugar cane, and that owes its name to its ability to take prodigious leaps. In recent years the insects have multiplied enormously, especially in Trinidad, where their natural enemies—frogs, lizards and birds—have been nearly exterminated by the mongoose, originally brought from India to kill the rats and snakes. Wherever the mongoosees were plentiful the lizards disappeared and the froghoppers flourished. Five years ago a leading planter, after exterminating as many mongoosees as possible, placed thousands of ground lizards in his cane fields, with the result that the froghopper had almost disappeared, and the sugar yield is greatly increased and improved.

Easy Diagnosis.

There was a long line of waiting patients when he entered the doctor's office, but he didn't seem to care for that. And his nonchalance was soon justified, for the assistant came out, looked the patients over and said in his ready arrival: "You are next." It was his air of prosperity that got him this favor, for he had never been there before. In the office the physician greeted him cordially, too. He examined him gently, deftly, briefly. Then said: "Ah! Dyspepsia." "I know it," said the patient, languidly. "Yes, of course you would know it. Now, how long have you suffered from it?" "Well, let's see, I inherited my money in 1912." That fixed the date and the doctor was able to go ahead with the case.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Changes on the Moon. Though a dead world, evidences of slight changes on the moon are occasionally noted. Recently studying the interior of the great lunar crater Plato, as seen from the observatory of Florence, Montebello Magaldi was astonished to find one of the numerous small craters buried to a reddish hue, which afterward spread over the whole of the northeast portion of the same crater, and then disappeared. The appearance was that of vapor, condensing previous observations of supposed clouds of volcanic gas in the same crater.

KINGSTON, N. Y., OCT. 27, 1919.

Germany's soldiers are not likely to agree with Dr. Clarence T. Wilson that cigarettes impaired the health of 2,000,000 American doughboys.

We read that harvesters of corn and hemp in Kentucky are demanding $6 to $10 a day. But when the top notch is reached and the bottom drops out, then what?

Recent accounts of atrocities committed by Bolshevik women in Hungary call to mind Kipling's dictum that the female of the species is more deadly than the male.

Though popularly regarded as mainly a man of action, Col. Roosevelt is said to have outdone most authors and journalists by writing or dictating about 18,000,000 words during his forty working years.

Lyman Ward, principal of the Southern Industrial Institute (for blacks) at Camp Hill, Ala., complains not only of "violence everywhere" but of "too much foolish talk, both North and South." He quotes Booker Washington as having said that "his wisest and best friend was the white man of the South," and goes on to declare his own belief that the average white man of the South is "just and kind to the average negro."

THE UNMARRIED BARRED.

The discrimination against bachelors in the prohibition regulations is attracting no little attention. According to the proclamation of the Internal Revenue Bureau, only married men and women de facto heads of families may make wine for home consumption, while bachelors and spinsters, whether they "keep house" or not, are rigidly restricted to soft drinks. The married may make and drink wine and may give it to their children, but they are not allowed to give even a sip of it to their boarders or their guests, presumably because as a rule these are unmarried persons. Children may drink home-made wine with the permission of their parents, but this wine is to be utterly denied unmarried persons of either sex, even though these may have reached years of discretion half a century since. It would appear that the door may be partly and temporarily opened to the unmarried only through the rigidly restricted prescriptions of physicians.

Naturally there is speculation as to the real cause of this discrimination against an enormous percentage of the adult American public. The prohibitionists have always claimed that their labors were in the interest of the family, a claim readily susceptible of explanation. But this discrimination against bachelors and spinsters in the matter of domestic wines is not so easily understood and calls for special elucidation. Have prohibitionists expanded their original purpose and are they now determined to promote marriage as well as to keep demon rum in chains? Whether this be the true key to the mystery or not, it is obvious that the only way for bachelors and spinsters to attain equality of privilege with their fellow Americans is to get married. It is obvious further that only those who are still young enough, and who are able to secure a favorable response when they put the question, can so qualify.

OUR TWO AUTOCRACIES.

Under present circumstances Senator Prohibitory's characterization of labor unions as a "new autocracy" hardly fails to impress many even of those who were entirely in sympathy with organized labor and its weapon, the strike. Organized labor today, with its insatiable demands and its dominance of the industrial situation, may with quite sufficient accuracy be termed an autocracy existing and overbearing in its power. It is too soon to forget, however, that this "new autocracy" was called into being by an old autocracy, that of capital—an old autocracy now much weakened through government trust-busting but still powerful and determined. Paraphrasing the words of Plutarch, the suffering public may well cry a plague on both your autocracies!

The public has a right to demand concession and compromise from both these autocracies that have just faced each other in battle array in the Industrial Conference, and the president spoke in the name of this right of the public when from his sick bed he earnestly asked that there be no adjournment until both parties had "exhausted resourcefulness and patience in an effort to come to some common agreement." In part the president wrote further: "Must suspicion and hatred and force rule us in civil life? Are our industrial leaders and our industrial workers to live together without faith in each other, constantly struggling for advantage over each, doing naught but what is compelled?" The president intimated that both labor and capital are arrogant, which is true, and that both must yield in some measure; otherwise it will be necessary to "confess that there is no method to be found for carrying on industry except in the spirit and with the very method of war."

What was the answer to this solemn and timely exhortation from the head of the nation on his sick bed? On the night of October 22, in spite of the president's appeal, labor withdrew from the National Industrial Conference after failing to secure agreement to one of its demands, while capital elected to remain in the conference together with the assembled representatives of the general public. Intoxicated by its comparatively new power, labor recklessly followed its arrogance and its anger into a bolt. Capital, on the other hand determined but cautious, aware of the danger of public disapproval as well as chastened by past experiences including government regulation, wisely remained in its seats. To the reflecting and unprejudiced observer it is quite clear that labor is also in need of government regulation. The new autocracy would receive much benefit from a similar chastening to that which was visited upon the old.

AT THE THEATERS.

Special Matinee at 4 O'clock for Children.

Emmy Whelan will be seen in her latest romantic screen play, "The Belle of the Season," at Keene's tonight. Also Hearst news and Picture Journeys into Storyland, "Nature's Great Outdoors." Tomorrow Constance Talmadge in "Happiness a la Mode."

"Man's Desire," a great big story with the bark on, in a locale where bally-chested men settled things in a primitive way, starring Lewis S. Stone as the man who attained "Man's Desire" by fighting for it will be shown at the Auditorium tonight. Wallace Reid in "Less Than Kin" is the banner attraction tomorrow. "Evangelina," the William Fox motion picture version of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow's immortal poem, which opens its run at the Kingston Opera House today is one of the finest film achievements seen here in a long, long time. A special matinee has been arranged for the schools to start at 4 p. m. with a special reduction in admission as every school child will sooner or later study Longfellow and a visualization on the screen is grasped more quickly than any known form of teaching.

One of the most notable theatrical events of the season will be the forthcoming production of "Friendly Enemies," the internationally famous comedy, at the Kingston Opera House next Saturday matinee and night, under the direction of A. H. Woods. Mail orders will be accepted now and the box office for the regular sale of seats will be open Thursday.

"The Unpardonable Sin," which is to be shown at the Kingston Opera House next Thursday and Friday, is a screen adaptation of the Major Rupert Hughes' book, by the same name, which has had such a tremendous sale during the past two years. The star of the photo-play version is Blanche Sweet, who is making her "re-debut" on the screen, after having been in retirement for the past couple of years. There will be three performances daily, 2:30, 7 and 9.

Two ways to buy clothes

One way is to look around until you find the lowest price.

The other way is to go where you'll find the best quality.

The first way you'll save a few dollars at the start then in a few months you'll have to have new clothes; what you save on the price is taken out of the quality of the clothes.

The second way will bring you here for Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes. They'll wear so long and give so much satisfaction that in the course of a year or so you'll save the price of a suit; because you won't need so many clothes.

Which is your way?

Boynton Furnaces and Boilers

Boynton Square Pot Furnaces and Boilers produce more heat from coal. Complete combustion—all fuel cleanly consumed—reduces the ash waste by half.

The patented square firepot sheds ash steadily. You will find little to shake out. The corrugated sides are almost straight up and down. There is no ash-retaining surface or angle. The fire at the edges is as clean as in the center.

Special flue carries off dust when shaking; no "cloud" fills the cellar or trickles up heat pipes.

Dealers are glad to explain Boynton superiority. If you cannot go at once, write us for booklet.

VAN ETEN PAID UNDER PROTEST

Eminent Counsel In David Burgevin's Auto Party Failed to Clear Him of Charge of Speeding in Port Jervis.

The Port Jervis Union says:

Attorneys Amos Van Etten and Virgil B. Van Wageningen, President Jay E. Klock, of The Freeman Publishing Company, Messrs. George Burgevin and David Burgevin, florists, all of Kingston, appeared before Justice W. S. Bevans at the city hall late on Friday afternoon as witnesses and defendants on a charge of violating the traffic laws.

David Burgevin, the owner and driver of the big Cadillac car in which the five Kingstonians were riding, had been arrested on Jersey avenue by Motorcycle Officer Grant for speeding his car at the rate of 32 miles an hour. The party was brought to the city hall, where some heated words were exchanged with the motorcycle officer.

When arraigned before Justice Bevans, Mr. Burgevin, through his counsel, Messrs. Van Etten and Van Wageningen, pleaded not guilty and demanded an immediate trial. Corporation Counsel S. M. Cuddeback was summoned by the police to present the case. On his arrival at the city hall Mr. Cuddeback withdrew from the case as he was related to one of the gentlemen from Kingston. Attorney H. B. Fullerton was secured and appeared on behalf of the city.

Motorcycle Officer Grant testified that he had overtaken the car on East Main street and Jersey avenue and that its speed with a fraction over 32 miles an hour.

Corroborative testimony was given by the Kingstonians that the party had journeyed from Kingston to Port Jervis down through New Jersey and Pennsylvania to Boilott's Silver Spring House, near Millford, where they had dinner, and were on their way home when they were apprehended by the motorcycle officer on Jersey avenue near the O. & N. tracks.

The witnesses testified that in New Jersey their car was stalled in a ditch along the road and when they came into the city they drove slowly along East Main street. The speed varied, it was estimated, from 10 or 15 miles an hour to not to exceed 30 miles at any point. At the time they were arrested and directed to come to police headquarters they were driving more slowly than at any other time on the trip.

In his argument for the defense, Mr. Van Etten made a statement in corroboration of the other four witnesses, who, he said, made the trip down the valley at his invitation. He denounced the arrest and proceedings as an outrageous performance and said that the gentleman from Kingston should not be held and arraigned as a criminal. After considerable discussion Mr. Van Etten asked that the case be dismissed.

Mr. Fullerton stated that the authorities of the city had enacted ordinances for the regulation of traffic and limiting the speed of motor vehicles to 15 miles an hour. He believed that the matter should be left to the court.

Justice Bevans decided that all the testimony showed that the defendant was driving the car more than 15 miles an hour and imposed a fine of $5. The fine was paid by Attorney Van Etten under protest.

SCHOOL CHILDREN SOLID.

All in Poughkeepsie Join Roosevelt Memorial Association.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Oct. 27.—Poughkeepsie is the first city in New York state to report one hundred per cent membership of its school children in the Roosevelt Memorial Association. Every high school and grammar school boy and girl has enrolled in the association. It was announced last night. William Boyce Thompson, president of the association, stated today he expects one million members will have been enrolled by tonight. New York state chairman Wm. J. Tully said: "I have today received a sufficient number of reports to be confident goal in New York state will be far overreached but let me emphasize that we cannot have too many members of Roosevelt Memorial Association. Colonel Thompson, president of National Association, advises me that the same condition prevails throughout the United States. At national and New York state headquarters we are sure the memory of Theodore Roosevelt will be perpetuated by an overwhelming force offering from a much larger number of people than anticipated."

Arthur Fletcher

It is rumored in baseball circles in St. Louis that Branch Rickey is weary of his double job of president and manager of the St. Louis Cardinals and is dicker for a trade with the New York Giants in which Arthur Fletcher, shortstop of the Giants, may figure. Rickey plans, according to rumors, to place Fletcher at the head of the Cardinals next season. Fletcher, despite his thirty years, is still one of the best shortstops in the National League. He is a smart type of player and would undoubtedly fit in as manager of the Cardinals.

Escaped From Delhi Jail.

William J. Pilkington and "Ted" Van Keuren escaped from the Delhi jail last Friday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock. Both are now back in jail. Van Keuren was captured in India. Pilkington is the man who robbed the home of Charles Gregory at Bloomville during the week of the Ontario fair and made away with $5,135, which had been hidden in a mattress. He was captured later in this city and was present and a very delightful money changer. Van Keuren, who is hardly more than a boy, was captured from Philadelphia and was used as a trusty about the jail, having considerable liberty.

The November list is on sale. This is the best ever issued. Every number is good in news and dance and Columbia records, at Columbia Shop, 274 Fair Street.—Advertisement

IMPORTANT TO RURAL VOTERS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Oct. 27.—Aside from the offices that will be filled on November 4, the coming election has a wider significance for the men and women residing in the rural sections and in places under 5,000 population. In voting this fall these persons will be given the opportunity of enrolling, and thus have a say in the primaries of next spring and fall. Next year's election will be one of the most important in years. The enrolled voters of all parties will elect delegates to national conventions who will nominate candidates for president and vice-president. They will also nominate a full state ticket from governor down. The primaries start in motion the machinery for making these nominations.

Unless a voter is enrolled with a regular party, he or she can not have expression in the important primaries, which, though they may now be several months away, will soon assume a greater importance and significance.

From reports received by Francis M. Hugo, secretary of state, city voters, realizing the importance of the coming election, are being urged to enroll. The past two weeks in greater numbers than ever before. In the county districts, however, the voter enrolls at the same time he votes, so that November 4 becomes a day of double importance this year.

MORGAN HILL.

Morgan Hill, Oct. 27.—Mrs. Harry Emanuelson, assisted by her daughter, Miss Ellen, entertained the members of the Social Circle at her home last week. Mr. Emanuelson, who is in business in New York city, was home for the week end and he joined Mrs. Emanuelson in welcoming each guest. Identically it takes more than a large room full of ladies to discomfort Mr. Emanuelson. All the regular members of the circle were present and a very delightful afternoon was spent. The guests were entertained with music, both instrumental and vocal, and there were many old familiar songs in which nearly all joined in the choruses. Among the many objects of interest in the Emanuelson home were some quaint and pretty Norwegian pictures on the walls which the visitors took much interest in trying to read. The members of the family, at Detroit a few days ago.

of course, had to finally assist them in doing so. Coffee, waffles and cake were served and some of us are still talking of the "delicious coffee" Mrs. Emanuelson makes and the happy afternoon we all spent. We all feel that these little social gatherings once a month do us a great deal of good, make us know each other better and help to lift us out of the monotonous and narrow rut that is the thing small communities and country places in general do not guard against enough. As this will be Mrs. Emanuelson's first winter in the country we all hope she and her family will find it pleasant here and not be attacked with spells of homesickness and longing for the city.

Shriners Went to Middletown.

About twenty-five members of the Kingston Shriners' Association motored to Middletown, Saturday, and attended the outing of the members of Necca Temple, Mystic Shrine, from New York city. There were three train loads from Greater New York, besides members from the Hudson river cities. It was one big day, such as the Shriners have when they have outings, and the parade was one that will be long remembered by the people who saw it.

Murphy is Captain.

Andrew J. Murphy, Jr., the well known local athlete, has been elected captain of the recently organized Knights of Columbus basketball team, with Arthur Hallman as manager. A series of games to be played this winter is being arranged. The local Knights have some good basketball material among the members, and should develop a rattling good five.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, Oct. 27.—The use of saccharin in place of sugar, which many housewives are being tempted to resort to in these days of sugar shortage, may involve menace to the health, and therefore is to be condemned, according to specialists in the bureau of chemistry of the United States department of agriculture.

Director of Episcopal Drive.

Rev. Dr. Ernest M. Strick, pastor of St. Thomas's Church, New York city, has accepted the post of director of the Every Name Campaign, which is the contribution of the New York diocese of the National Episcopal campaign of the church. This general campaign received the endorsement of the Episcopal general convention at Detroit a few days ago.

Lieutenant W.C. Taylor and mother

The "mother cure" suggested by General Foster, chief of the British Air Force, in the case of Lieutenant William C. Taylor, of Fairview, Va., who had been knocked out mentally after a fall of 5,000 feet in the plane, has proved entirely successful. Lieutenant Taylor served with the British Air Force during the war, later being transferred to England as a test pilot. His plane crashed while he was flying over Salisbury Plain. His skull fractured. He remained unconscious after two weeks, but had left his memory in the clouds. Mrs. Taylor, mother of the Lieutenant, received the happy call to England last July. The plan of the medical men was to let Mrs. Taylor sit with her son one hour a day until he had "come back." This photograph of the Lieutenant and his mother was taken recently aboard the liner Celtic, arriving in New York. The Lieutenant's mind is still a bit hazy on some events, but he is in fine physical shape and talks as if there was nothing the matter with him. His father, William A. Taylor, pathologist and physiologist, is chief of the Bureau of Plant Industry of the Agriculture Department. Mrs. Taylor is wearing the uniform of a seamstress, being employed in the Bureau of Navigation in Washington.

New Firm for Poughkeepsie.

The Chamber of Commerce of Poughkeepsie has been asked to board of a roof of a building at 274 Washington avenue, Saturday, for a building with 5,000 square feet of floor space for a jewelry consignment which is a general term claiming a credit of $5,000,000. Looked off a good telephone wire if the plans are carried through the fact that the roadway to the company premises is and will be a good one. The wire was there yesterday to the Bridge City, all day Sunday.

EMPEROR NO MORE

Name of Roman Dignitary Has Finally Disappeared.

This Never Has Meant What It Once Did—Effects of the French Revolution and Domination of Napoleon.

The effects of the French revolution and the domination of Napoleon were felt more strongly by Germany than by any other nation with the exception of France, writes Albert Barrett Sayres. Although the changes in Italy were in themselves great, Italy had been partitioned over and over again, but never before had Germany had this experience of falling under a foreign yoke.

It was during this period that the old order of things and the old ideas which had been held so long came altogether to an end. The Roman empire and the kingdom of Germany were now abolished even in name. Germany lost all her lands west of the Rhine, and Austria lost the Netherlands. Furthermore, Napoleon called himself protector of the lands in Germany he didn't take.

As soon as Napoleon began to call himself emperor of the French, the king of Hungary and archduke of Austria being the emperor-elect of the Romans, wished to distinguish between his ancient title and the new title taken by the "upstart." So he called himself hereditary emperor of Austria. In a short time his "empire" and title came to an end.

Many of the German princes had joined Napoleon. They began to aspire for higher titles than had been theirs. So they called themselves king of Bavaria, king of Wurtemberg, and so forth. They then made themselves into the confederation of the Rhine, which was not under Napoleon's protection, and they increased their possessions much as they wished.

This took place in 1806, and in the same year the Austrian emperor formally resigned his title of Roman emperor, and no Roman emperor has since been chosen. Thus for the first time since the Christian era began there was no Roman emperor. The Roman empire had in name—as well as in reality—come to an end at last.

By his rise from a humble resident of Corsica to the position of emperor of the French and the virtual mastery of western Europe, Napoleon destroyed the last lingering superstition about the Roman empire. We must add this good thing to the many others Napoleon accomplished. One of the causes of war was thus swept away.

Of course, when Napoleon fell, even his claim to the kingdom of Italy, which he had managed to enforce for many years, fell also. He had previously agreed that after his time Italy should not be joined with France, so we agree that even he felt that a new order of things was about to dawn in Europe. Italy, of course, was the second kingdom of the old Roman empire.

The third kingdom of that ancient order was the kingdom of Burgundy. This was not wholly forgotten, for all of it was either a part of France or under French control as a part of Switzerland. And so the last of the ancient parts of the Roman empire had disappeared. Thus we see how the name of emperor and even the old names of the kingdoms that once had comprised the Roman empire were now forgotten.

But the simple name emperor has not disappeared. It was still retained by the man who called himself emperor of Austria. And his successors have since done the same thing. Other rulers of other states have held that name. But it never has meant what it once did.

Bonfires as Warning Signal.

A little over a hundred years ago bonfires on Scottish hillsides were the recognized warning signal for the threatened invasion of the French. There was no more enthusiastic volunteer than Sir Walter Scott. The great novelist writes that "the necessity of the present occasion (1793) has kept almost every individual, however insignificant, at his post. God has left us entirely to our own means of defense, for we have not above one regiment of the line in all our ancient kingdom. In the meanwhile, we are doing the best we can to prepare ourselves for a contest which is not far distant. A beacon light communicating with that of Edinburgh castle, is just erected in front of our quiet cottage. My field equipment is ready, and I want nothing but a pipe and scotch harricot to convert me into a complete buccar."

While Sir Walter and his lady were on a short excursion to the lake district, in 1845, the beacon fires were needlessly lighted. He rode fully 100 miles within 24 hours to the place of rendezvous, only to find that the alarm had blown over.

An Inquisitive Bird.

Some birds are awfully curious and want to know what is going on. So if they see a human being in their neighborhood they will come close to investigate and pry into secrets, and one of these birds is the Kentucky warbler, says the American Forestry association, Washington. This bird has a preference for woods which are low and damp, and ordinarily keeps well within the depths of tangled thickets. This bird, which ranges throughout the eastern United States, spends its winter in northern South America.

Wearing of Pearls.

It is a well-established fact that the more pearls are worn, particularly next to the skin, the more they increase in beauty and value. If worn for any considerable length of time their luster becomes dimmed.

Tax Rates Compared

The tax rate to carry on the city government the year 1913, the last year of last administration, was $34.90

The average tax rate for preceding administration for years 1910 to 1913 was within three cents of 33.00

The average tax rate for present administration for years 1914 to 1919 inclusive, was 34.93

The increase for years 1914 to 1919 inclusive, during the war years of high prices, over the years 1910 to 1913 during the peace years to low prices, was 1.97

The City's tax rate increased only 6 per cent.

Has any private business done better?

Has any householder done better?

Has any wage earner done better?

Has anyone been able to get along on an increase of only 6 per cent?

Yet, the City did.

Yet, the Canfield administration also paid over $300,000 of City bonds, most of which were issued by the preceding administration, of which Mr. Metzger was legal adviser.

Yet, an average of over $5.00 of each tax rate of the present administration is properly chargeable to the preceding administration.

The tax budget and the tax rate of $25.96 made up by the preceding administration in December, 1913, after Mayor Canfield was first elected and before he assumed office, for the first year of his administration, was not a complete budget or rate. It failed to provide moneys to pay the interest on the $225,000 of bonds issued in December, 1913, by the preceding administration, or for unpaid bills or necessary street work and other necessary purposes, and should not be given consideration.

Give careful thought to these figures and then decide fairly and justly whether the tax rate of Kingston, with fairly low assessments, is high under the circumstances.

Freaks of Nature.

A cat that barked like a dog, recently exhibited at Boston, tops the list of numerous freaks discovered in this country. Recently, says the Detroit Free Press, a giant glow worm 4½ inches long, was found in the Santa Cruz mountains. When placed in the dark a gorgeous effect was produced by the luminous rings circling its body. Mammoth fruit is of frequent occurrence, but in Southgate, Bath, England, a shocking case of a plant overeating was discovered. It resulted in seven daisies growing on one stalk. This freak, scientists said, was caused by fecundation, which means overeating. White blackbirds, canaries, linnets and sparrows have been seen and exhibited. The ocean, too, gives its share of curious freaks. A double-sided flounder, with both sides alike, duplicate fins and a misplaced eye, was caught some months ago.

Suited Him Right Then.

Sir Johnstone Forbes-Robertson tells this story of William Terriss, the handsome actor of his day: "I was very fond of Terriss and was much amused by the unconscious impudence with which Terriss treated him. I was in a room just off the stage at the Lyceum in London, near his own dressing room. One night Terriss smelled the savory odor of appealing cooking. 'Free work, that!' he said to Irving, during a walk in the wings. 'Yes, very good,' agreed Irving, and added: 'You must come along some time and have supper with me, my boy.' 'Nothing would please me better,' said Terriss, to which Irving replied: 'Well, when would you like to come?' 'Tonight!' responded Terriss promptly. Irving was delighted with the businesslike acceptance of his invitation."

E. M. Bassler, of Wisconsin, a noted engineer, whose invention has completely revolutionized the alfalfa industry. By his patented process alfalfa, which when dried by the old method develops a brownish color, retains its original white color. Mr. Bassler also claims that more than 17 per cent of protein is retained by the alfalfa, compared to 12 per cent by the old method. Mr. Bassler's invention is a steam drier, and already has been installed in several big granaries and hemp plants throughout the west.

Credit Out of Favor.

A detail of colored engineers who were working on the roads in the vicinity of Reno were growling at the long hours, the scarce mails and the lack pay. The sergeant, to comfort them, said: "But think of all the credit you get." "Yeah," came the answer. "But's all we do get—credit. Never see no cash around here!" American Legion Weekly.

Mr. Garland, famous novelist and dramatist, is a member of the Roosevelt Memorial Association and during the life of Theodore Roosevelt was one of his intimate friends. He will deliver an address at the High School Auditorium this evening in behalf of the association's membership campaign.

When Colonel Roosevelt was Police Commissioner in New York city Mr. Garland was his frequent companion during the young commissioner's trips on investigations through the metropolis. He is the author of a number of books including "The Captain of the Gray Horse Troop," "The Long Trail" and "The Son of the Middle Border." He lives in New York city.

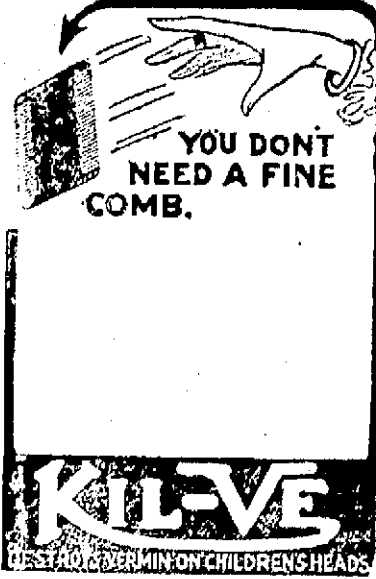

Explosive Flour.
For many years it has been known that various forms of dust when mixed with air in certain proportions are capable of producing destructive explosions when brought into contact with flame. This danger sometimes exists in flour mills, an instance being the explosion of three flour mills at Minneapolis in 1878. It was then demonstrated by experiment that two ounces of flour in two cubic feet of confined air, when ignited, would cause a violent explosion, and it was calculated that the contents of a flour sack distributed through 4,000 cubic feet of air would cause an explosion capable of throwing a weight of 2,500 tons to a height of 100 feet. An instance is known where sugar dust in a confectionery factory caused an explosion, and in another case dry soap proved equally dangerous.

AMENDMENT NO. 1 IS EXPLAINED

Object is to Facilitate Drainage of Swamp Lands and Make Them Productive Will be Put to Voters.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, Oct. 27.—Four proposed amendments to the state constitution, on which the present legislature and that of last year took favorable action, will be submitted to the voters on election day. Three of them are easily understood—Nos. 2 designed to provide a method of absentee voting, and Nos 3 and 4 dealing with the salaries of members of the legislature and court of appeals judges respectively.

Amendment No. 1 is not quite so plain, and provides that "the use of property for the drainage of swamp or agricultural lands is declared to be a public use," and that the expense incurred in draining such swamp lands for agricultural purposes "may be assessed, wholly or partly, against any property benefited thereby."

The object of this amendment is to facilitate the drainage of areas of swamp lands and make possible their productive use in agriculture. Seemingly this could be done under the present provisions of Article 1, Section 7, of the constitution, but the courts have made the present constitutional permission practically invalid by declaring that the drainage of agricultural land is not essentially a public use, and by declaring that benefits could not be assessed upon all lands and properties benefited, unless such benefits were levied for the purpose of preserving the public health and safety.

It is that if it is not possible to show material benefits to public health and safety, individual property owners may hinder drainage improvements, either by opposing the construction of outlets across their lands, or else by refusing to share the cost of drainage by which they would be benefited. If the proposed amendment is adopted and the drainage of swamp lands for agricultural purposes is declared to be a public use, drainage cases will be dealt with in the same way as other public improvements—that is to say, the drainage work will be carried out, with the cost paid by all those who are benefited and with just compensation to those who are damaged. The case would be analogous to the system at present followed in the placing of a public highway, where, upon proper compensation, individual objections give way to a public improvement that will benefit many.

The Conservation Commission estimates that there are about 300,000 acres of swamp land throughout the state, and that about half of this area can be drained at a cost that would make it a highly profitable undertaking. By the drainage of one swamp alone, along the Wallkill river in Orange county, no less than 15,000 acres could readily be brought under cultivation.

As is well known to agriculturists, the black soil underlying swamps is one of the most fertile character, and according to the Conservation Commission's figures, swamp lands which are now worthless could, by drainage, be brought to an average value of $300 an acre. Some swamp lands in the state, which have already been drained, are said to be worth as much as $1,500 an acre.

Criticism of the proposed amendment has been directed to the section providing that the costs of drainage may be assessed, wholly or partly, against any property benefited thereby. It has been feared that under this wording the state might have to pay the cost of a drainage project which would be of benefit only to a few. Such criticism should be considered in the light of the further provision that only a general law, and no special acts, may be enacted by the legislature under this proposed amendment, thus assuring to all sections of the state the same benefit that could be sought for any particular project; and also to the provision of Article VII, Section 1, of the constitution, which says that the credit of the state shall not in any manner be given or loaned to, or in aid of, any individual, association, or corporation.

The usual method of procedure in the case of a drainage improvement project is for a petition to be presented to the Conservation Commission by the person or persons possessing the land or those in the vicinity. After the receipt of such petition, the Conservation Commission is required by statute to examine into the matter and to determine whether the drainage of the lands is of sufficient importance to warrant the interference of the state. If the commission determines that the project is worthy of further consideration, surveys and estimates are made and the cost of the drainage is presented to the owners. If, after public hearings they still desire the work to proceed, the commission determines the amount of the benefit which will accrue to each of the various beneficiaries and a tax is levied in proportion to the amount of benefit each is to receive. The amount of this tax, which may be spread over a period of years, must equal the cost, including just compensation to all who have been damaged. Under present conditions, it is possible for the entire improvement to be blocked by selfish interests through refusal to cooperate. By ratification of Amendment No. 1, the project could be carried out on the principle of "the greatest good to the greatest number."

Although the entire state will be benefited by bringing under agricultural cultivation fertile lands which are now idle, the taxpayers will bear no share of the expense, which must be paid by the beneficiaries. Farmers throughout the state are said to be unanimously in favor of the amendment, which, it is expected, will undoubtedly be ratified.

6 Dream Reveals Crime.

A dream once played its part in a celebrated criminal case—the "Red Barn Murder"—the memory of which is kept alive by the melodrama still played in country towns in England. Mrs. Marten, the mother of Maria Marten, the victim, dreamed three successive nights that her daughter had been murdered and buried in the red barn. She insisted that the floor should be taken up. This was done and the body of the missing girl was found, and constituted a link in the chain of circumstantial evidence on which the murderer, William Cordier, was convicted and executed in August, 1828.

WOMEN HURT AS AUTO SKIDS

Miss Lillian B. Hagelweide, of 85 Main street, a trained nurse, is suffering with a broken leg, the fracture being above the knee, and with a badly bruised right arm, the result of an automobile accident, and Mrs. Adelbert H. Chambers of 273 Clinton avenue, is considerably bruised, also. Her husband who was running the car, a new Oldsmobile, was shaken up and then little son, Robert, escaped unhurt. The accident happened about 5:29 Sunday afternoon on Main street, at the point where the street pavement starts at the city square. The Willue was wet and slippery and just as the car ran on to the bridge from the macadam road, the running car skidded and went sideways toward a stone wall alongside the road. One of the front wheels because of the impact being driven to the door at the side that was into the front part of the car, the side of the auto was badly damaged from hitting the wall. Mrs. Chambers and Miss Hagelweide, who were seated in the rear of the Oldsmobile were thrown forward with great force then knees hitting the rear of the front seat. Miss Hagelweide's leg was broken as aforesaid, and Mrs. Chambers badly bruised. Mr. Chambers saved the boy, "Sonny," from being cut by the flying glass from the windshield by shielding him with his arm. Harold A. Styles of Main street, and Miss Hazel Hogeboom who were coming along at the time of the accident went to the rescue, and with assistance they placed the party in the car of Miss Hogeboom, and Mr. Styles speeded the car to the office of Drs. W. and J. Healy of Fair street, where the doctors got on the running board of the automobile which was hurried to the Chambers residence, 273 Clinton avenue, and the injuries to Mrs. Chambers and Miss Hagelweide attended to. The latter was a war nurse, serving over a year at Camp Lee Virginia, and is the school nurse at the Saugerties public schools.

THE SECOND WANTS WALTER C. MILLER

He is Well Versed in the Affairs of County Government—Would Make a Record as Supervisor.

WALTER C. MILLER.

Republicans of the Second ward are looking for an overwhelming victory for Walter C. Miller, candidate for supervisor of the ward. Men and women throughout the ward are working enthusiastically for his success, for they realize that Mr. Miller is the proper man for the office. Mr. Miller is a Kingstonian by birth, and a resident of the Second ward for the past twenty-four years. There are few men, if any, better known in the ward. There can be no doubt as to his ability and his interest in knowing the requirements of his constituents. The mere fact that he has held down important posts with three large industrial concerns is evidence enough that he is well fitted for the important office of supervisor. For eleven years, Mr. Miller held a responsible position with the Ulster & Delaware Railroad. For several years he was commercial manager of the Kingston Gas & Electrical Company. For the past years he has been closely identified with the Universal Road Machinery Company. It was in his present capacity as sales manager for the Universal Company that Mr. Miller came to get an insight into the manner of government in a large town and county. He has been in the town and county board, and in every county of the empire he has had a splendid opportunity to study conditions. There can be no doubt that he would be an important asset to the board of supervisors of Ulster county with this wide range of close-up observation. Mr. Miller is liberal minded and a good thinker. His election will mean the putting in office a man who is fit for good government and who is a man of judgment that is sound and sound. Mr. Miller is strongly opposed to everything that will tend to lower the standards of this county.

THEY ALL KNOW GEO. A. LEVERICH

Fifth Ward Realizes That It Needs a Business Man to Represent it in the Board of Aldermen.

GEORGE A. LEVERICH.

The candidate for alderman of the Fifth ward is too well-known for an attempt to be made to tell who he is. Nearly every resident in Ponckhockie knows George A. Leverich and what he stands for. They know that Mr. Leverich will make a good alderman because he represented them very ably before. They made a change two years ago, but now they see the error of their ways and will lose no time on November 4 in making amends. They fully realize that a business man is needed to represent them, a man possessed of sufficient grey matter and the ability to stand up for his rights.

Mr. Leverich has always lived in Ponckhockie. He is a member of Cordis Hose and was foreman of that organization for three years. He conducts a meat market and is possessed of business acumen. He is level headed, fully acquainted with city affairs and especially those of the Fifth ward. He can be relied upon to conduct his office intelligently and creditably.

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

SCOUTS PROVE THEIR GRIT

A visitor at Camp Wewandassa, the summer camp of North Hudson council, Boy Scouts of America, at Bear Mountain, Interstate park, tells a bear-story which he got direct from his boy.

It was their first night on the islands. Taps had been sounded, and the camp was settling down to a quiet slumber, when from one of the islands came a low, blood-curdling screech.

"Some cat," ventured a scout in one of the tents.

"Cat, nothing," exclaimed another in the same tent, excitedly. "It's a wildcat."

This statement brought six other tousleheads from underneath six blankets in the tent. A hurried conference was called, and it was decided that they just had to go out and get the wildcat.

Arming themselves with broken oars and old broom-handles, and with their scout knives safely blighted to their belts, the boys crept stealthily from their tent out into the starry night. The shriek again pierced the still night air.

Suddenly the leader called a halt. His foot touched something. It was another scout. In fact another group, and still another group. The scouts began to assemble rapidly, and it finally seemed that every tent had a delegation present. Excited whispers as to how to proceed broke the silence, but suddenly everybody grew quiet, as a tall figure loomed up in the darkness. It was Lieut. H. Hudson of Westfield, N. J., resident director of the camp.

"I've got the wildcat, fellows," he said quietly; "now hustle back to camp."

Lieutenant Hudson would advance no information, but ordered everybody back to bed. But the story leaked out and spread from tent to tent. The truth was that the shriek was not that of a wild cat, but an ordinary boy scout imitating that animal. The wildcat was Scout George Becker of West Hoboken.

THE SEA SCOUT'S CHANTY.

This is a modern chanty, sung by the crew of the sea scouts who took the famous pioneering trip up the Connecticut river in government boats. It was written by Chief Sea Scout James A. Wilder of Honolulu:

A ship is wood and metal,
Is metal, rigging and sail—
It's but an iron kettle,
When hearts aboard her rail!

Haunting Chorus:
To my way-ay and yea, yea,
We're bound away for many a day,
Someday is a good scout,
So give us our seaway.

The heart of ships is red-blood,
Red-blood—never a doubt!
And wood and iron useless
Without the heart of scout.
(Chorus)

Our ship is what'er make her,
Make her—saucy and smart,
A blustering wind shall break her,
While we are all of a heart.
(Chorus)

VICTORY HALL TO HOUSE SCOUTS

Exterior designs and floor plans have been prepared for submission to the board of estimate in New York city for "Victory Hall," a memorial building to the world war soldiers of New York city.

The plans show a ground floor, to be used as an exhibition hall, 30 feet high and 200 by 320 feet square. The basement is to contain one of the largest swimming pools in the world, a gymnasium and a rifle range.

The second floor will be a convention hall. The third story is to contain chapter rooms for the meetings of the G. A. R., A. E. F., American Legion, Boy Scouts, Public School Athletic League and Amateur Athletic Union. A flat roof will afford facilities for a playground.

Meaning Is Same.

Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Virginia and Kentucky are officially styled commonwealths, although there seems to be no particular reason, except custom, as commonwealth has practically the same meaning as state.

INNES TRAINS SCOUT BAND.

The Denver boy scouts' band of 65, directed by Frederick Nell Innes, is an organization of which Denver may well be proud. Introducing the band, Professor Innes said:

"It is a genuine tribute to the high intelligence and untiring application of these boys that they, in less than 20 days, have become proficient enough to appear in a public concert, and I am sincerely proud to be their director. This band is wholly self-supporting. The members bought their own instruments. I have been glad to give my services in training them."

ENGLISH AND FOREIGN SCOUTS.

The officers and leaders present at a recent scout conference in Bonnamouth, England, were enthusiastic for the development of their relations with foreign scouts.

Lieut. Gen. Sir Robert S. S. Baden-Powell, who is at the head of the British scout movement, believes that this attitude is general, for he has had suggestions from scoutmasters and others as to what the organization might do to get into closer touch with Britain's allies.

Slippery Customers.

Almost every variety of fish is slippery and hard to hold when caught. This is due to a sort of mucus exuded through the scales, and is of the greatest importance to all slimy creatures. One of the important functions of the fish's slimy coating is to protect it from the attacks of fungus, a form of plant life found in all waters. If the fish is so injured that some spot becomes uncovered by its slime, a barely visible fungus will be likely to lodge there, and when its growth is once lodged the process of reproduction is very rapid. It soon extends over the gills and kills the fish. The primary purpose of the slime of the fish is to reduce its friction when in motion through the water, and thereby increase its rate of speed. It also serves as a cushion to the scales, which it thus protects from many injuries.

But Father Can't.

It has been our observation that when a holiday comes around everybody takes advantage of it except those who need it the most.

FOOTBALL GAME SATURDAY A TIE

Formidable Poughkeepsie High Failed Through Over-Eagerness To Score Against K. H. S.—Team Plays In Albany Saturday.

Before one of the largest crowds that ever turned out to a football game in this city, the Kingston High School eleven on Saturday played the Poughkeepsie High School eleven to a finish with neither side scoring. This is the second game that the two schools have played in this city and finished up without either side scoring a touchdown. The other game was played here two years ago, and it will be remembered that the same year, when the teams played in Poughkeepsie, the game ended the same way. This means that the two schools must be pretty nearly evenly matched as far as football is concerned. The Poughkeepsie team outweighed the Kingston team at least five pounds to the man, but what Poughkeepsie had over the locals in weight, the locals made up in skill and grit. However, the game was real interesting and extra good playing was exhibited by both sides. Had Poughkeepsie been less anxious to score, they would have succeeded, but as it was, they tried to score by shoving a man with the ball over the goal line. A fact that should be carefully noted by local fans is, that Poughkeepsie has never been able to score on a Kingston eleven.

1st Quarter—Captain Meeker won the toss-up and chose to receive the kick-off at the north-west end of the field. In the third play, McAndrew shot a forward pass to Meeker, who failed in an attempt to catch it. Had Meeker succeeded in catching the pass, in all probability, he would have made a touchdown as he had a clear field ahead of him. But, as usual there is always that little "if" clause which spoils everything.

2nd Quarter—The ball seesawed up and down the field in the first two quarters and affairs seemed to be about even. The Kingston boys were unable to gain consistently, during the first half of the game.

Poughkeepsie was penalized several times during the first two periods for holding and being off-side. The latter fault is probably due to the anxiety of the players to win.

3rd Quarter—Poughkeepsie received the ball at the north-west end of the field after Meeker had made a good kick-off. The Bridge-City boys succeeded in making first downs two or three times and were finally halted in their charge on Kingston's thirty yard line. During this period, Rosen threw a long forward pass which McAndrew intercepted on the Kingston ten yard line. He was tackled before he had had a chance to move. Kingston failed to gain any ground so Meeker dropped back for a punt. Being in a precarious position, Meeker was in somewhat of a hurry to get the ball out of the dangerous territory. When he made the kick, the ball slipped off the side of his shoe and went out of bounds, going only for ten yards, in all. This gave Poughkeepsie possession of the ball on Kingston's twenty yard line. The ball was carried to the three yard line and with one more chance to get it over for a touchdown, Poughkeepsie called on Rosen to do the deed. Of course, the Poughkeepsie boys were excited and instead of letting Rosen carry it over alone, two of his teammates got behind him and pushed him over the line for the touchdown which would have counted had it not been for the assistance of the other two men. Therefore, Poughkeepsie was penalized for pushing a man, who was carrying the ball, and the pigskin went back to Kingston on her own eighteen yard line. The quarter ended with Kingston still in possession of the ball.

4th Quarter—Kingston succeeded in making several good gains on forward passes, in this quarter. The game ended with Kingston in possession of the ball on her own forty yard line.

Summary of the main factors of the teams:

Poughkeepsie had a very strong line against which Kingston could not gain.

Kingston gains were made on end runs and forward passes, entirely. Poughkeepsie gained on line plunges.

The lineup of the Kingston High School team was as follows:

Referee—Dan Chase. Umpire, Nellis. Attendance, 1,500. Timer, H. Johnson. Headlinesman, A. W. Butler. Linesman, "Doc" Gibson.

Referee Dan Chase and Umpire Nellis, the officials of the game, were from Albany and are both experts on football. Mr. Chase is the chief of the state department of physical education and has been in office since the law demanding physical education went into effect. Mr. Nellis was a four year player on the Hamilton College eleven. Both men were secured by Prof. C. W. Lewis.

The scores of the Kingston-Poughkeepsie games of the past are:

1915—K. H. S. 48; P. H. S. 0.
1916—K. H. S. 36; P. H. S. 0.
1917—K. H. S. 0; P. H. S. 0.
1918—K. H. S. 0; P. H. S. 0.
1919—K. H. S. 0; P. H. S. 0.

Total Points, 90.
Summary—K. H. S. won 3; lost 1; P. H. S. won 0; lost 2. Tied games, 2.

In some unknown way the season's tickets dates were confused and instead of the Albany game being played here on Saturday it will be played here a week from Saturday. Kingston plays in Albany this Saturday. Patrons of season tickets are asked to make note of this mistake.

WHY OIL MEANS TO U. S.

Lubricant Is Center of a Romance That Quells the Tale of Steel—Helped Win War.

It's 60 years since the first oil well was drilled in Pennsylvania, thus inaugurating the era of oil, the Pittsburgh-Gazette-Times observes. The discovery was at once recognized as possessing great value, but there could have been slight appreciation of the mammoth proportions to which the industry was destined to grow. Hailed as an illuminant supplanting candles and kerosene, the business has widened beyond any possible dreams of those who were active in the early days of oil. The center of the industry has long since departed from the place of its origin. The Southwest and the Pacific coast, almost an unimagined in the infancy of the business, now produce thousands of barrels of the original oil region's oil. Oil is used as an illuminant on millions of farms and in isolated places all over the world, but that is no longer the chief product of crude. Gasoline, a direct by-product, is now the main result sought. The million of motor-driven vehicles that have come into existence in the past score of years would not have been possible had we not had this desirable product to provide an explosive fuel to drive them.

Large quantities of the crude product are used to drive locomotives and ships. The war which not have been won had not the allies had access to the fields of Mexico and the United States. And not only as fuel does the heavy product enter into the world's commerce, but as a lubricant lessens the friction of bearings, from the sewing machine to steamships. The products even enter the realm of medicine, and while the limit would seem to be reached in utilizing the waste from the refineries it is possible that further subdivisions may yet increase the number. The story of oil is a romance that equals the tale of steel, yet it is an infant in point of time compared with the metal that has brought such wealth to Pennsylvania.

Byron Tice Theatrical. In its review of a recent work by the Italian critic, Emilio Cecchi, on English poets of the Nineteenth century, the London Telegraph says:

"On the topic of the most famous controversy between European and British criticism—the greatness of Byron—Professor Cecchi takes very decidedly the British view. If indeed he is not carried so far by his repugnance to the abundant alloy in Byron's poetry, as in his life, as to make too little of the demonic force which renders his poetry so impressive. Even that last expedition to Greece, which has commonly been felt to redeem many aberrations, has for our critic the fatal touch of the theater which the man and the poet so rarely escaped; and he compares him, much to his disadvantage, with that Genoese gentleman who rushed to embark with Garibaldi's thousand in evening dress and a crush hat, and in this account went to his death at Calistano—a Bo-Meredith-like figure, luminous with its trusting smile, but touched with a yuccer spirit of religiosity than Byron could have achieved or understood."

Churchill testifies in tank controversy.

Winston Churchill, Secretary of War of Great Britain, testifies before the Royal Commission on Awards to Inventors in London, in regard to his knowledge of the invention and development of the British tank. General H. D. Swinton's claim to the invention has been disputed by other British inventors. The commission in order to reward the real inventor, is conducting an investigation. Mr. Churchill, in his testimony, declared that sixteen different types of tanks were considered before the adoption of the type used by the British in the war. The tank embodied features of many of those that were rejected.

TO REMEMBER CIVILIANS TOO

City Historian Clearwater Requests Those Who Aided in War Work, Together With Service Men, To Send In Photographs For Files.

Judge Clearwater, the historian of Kingston, has decided upon a unique plan for perpetuating the memory of all persons who in any way contributed to the winning of the great world war, and it would seem that no more thorough, authentic or admirable method could be conceived than the one outlined in his letter which follows:

To The People of Kingston:
It seems to me desirable there should be preserved in the archives of the city a permanent memorial of the service rendered, not only by the young men who served as soldiers and sailors in the great world war, but of the numerous men and women in civil life who so largely contributed to the essential activities of that struggle.

I know of no more fitting reminder of individual effort than a photograph of each soldier, sailor and civilian who in any way aided in winning the war and would like to have the historian's files of the city a photograph of every soldier and sailor, man and woman, of whatever age, who thus assisted, with an endorsement upon the back of each photograph, of a statement of the work performed.

Will every citizen who thus participated furnish with his or her photograph endorsed in the handwriting of the person photographed, with his or her signature, and if a soldier or sailor, the date of entry in to and discharge from the service, if a civilian, the character of the work performed, whether in aid of the Liberty Loan, Military Censuses, Red Cross, Young Men's Christian Association, Knights of Columbus, Hebrew Charities, Salvation Army, War Savings Stamps, Questionnaire's Court, Four Minute Men, British, French, Italian and Russian Relief, Newspaper editors, reporters and contributors to any other war activities.

These photographs will be read in the past and kept in the treasured vault of the historian.

Mr. Metzgers Open Letter to the Freeman and Men and Women of Kingston

Kingston, N. Y., Oct. 27, 1919.
To the Editor of the Kingston Daily Freeman:

Dear Sir:

I saw in your issue of October 24th an advertised statement of my financial record as Corporation Counsel compared to that of William D. Brinnier, and am glad to have the opportunity to let the taxpayers and voters decide whether the city is to be governed by E. Metzger as Mayor or by William D. Brinnier of New York City.

My term of office as Corporation Counsel was one and a half years. Money spent for law books alleged to be $107.30 may be correct. Any books purchased by me were necessary for the city's benefit, and the expiration of my term of office said law books were turned over to Mr. Brinnier.

That the modest sum of $107.30 for a filing case was ordered by me is correct. When I became Corporation Counsel and sought to take possession of the legal documents of former Corporation Counsel, I discovered that these documents were hidden in the personal files of Mr. Brinnier, and when I needed documents for investigation, I was obliged to go to Mr. Brinnier's office for them, and some I needed could not be found as they related to matters which came up under Augustus H. Van Buren when he was Corporation Counsel. I had no place to file my legal documents unless I hid them in my personal files. On discovering this condition, I ordered a safe proof filing cabinet, and when I received it, I assembled all the city's legal documents I could find and put them in this cabinet, and when my term of office expired, this filing cabinet together with all the city's legal documents were turned over to Mr. Brinnier, and are now in the law offices of Brinnier, Canfield and Brinnier on John street.

As to telephone charge, I may have used the telephone a long distance calls during my term of office, but I did not, as was never excepted for the city's business.

Expense of $155.00 searching. The searches of the County Clerk's records for the Washington Avenue Crossing Elimination were necessary in order to know in what the titles to the properties to be condemned were vested in order to avoid payments except to all parties who were actually interested. These searches were ordered to be made and certified to by the County Clerk, and payment of this by the city was a proper charge to be included in the costs of the Washington Avenue Crossing, 50 per cent of it to be paid by the railroad, 25 per cent of it by the state and 25 per cent by the city. If the city did not collect this amount, it is the fault of Mr. Brinnier, as he was Corporation Counsel and should have seen to it that the item was included in the costs of the crossing elimination.

There was $200 expended for clerk hire under authority of a resolution of the Board of Aldermen for the purpose of listing the names of people who died in this county, owning real estate, for three years past. This required the listing of each piece of real estate, the name of the executor, the names of the two appraisers, the location of the property and the sworn values of each piece of property. The clerk then secured the tallies of all the towns at the supervisors' office and entered in another column the value on which these estate properties were being taxed. I discovered on examination of this tabulation that the city was being overcharged by the County Equalization Board about three million of dollars. I then made up an equalization bill and had a city supervisor bring the matter before the Committee on Equalization, before which I personally appeared on behalf of the city. The committee reported adversely to the city and the minority committee of the board brought it up in full session of the Board of Supervisors and urged adoption of the minority report. I also appeared before the Board of Supervisors in support thereof, but the county supervisors voted it down. The only way left was to take an appeal to the State Board of Tax Commissioners for review. I prepared such an appeal. The statute provided that an appeal could only be made by a majority of the supervisors of the city. There were thirteen supervisors, 6 Democrats and 7 Republicans. I was able to procure the signatures of the 6 Democrats, but not one Republican Supervisor of the city seemed to have the city taxpayers' interest at heart, and not one of the seven would sign the appeal. This appeal had to be filed before January 1st following, and when I was unable to procure the appeal, I turned the matter over to Mr. Brinnier and informed him that I was sure that on appeal success was almost certain, but that the appeal had to be made on or before December 31st to get it before the State Board for hearing. I thought then that the incoming administration had the taxpayers' interests at heart and would try to save the city taxpayers about $20,000 per year, but they did nothing and have done nothing since, and I now make the statement that should I be elected I will positively take up this fight for a fair equalization for the city in fixing the county equalization. The city has been mulcted long enough by the county.

With reference to the expenditure of the $122.90, including $22.50 for myself, I do not recall the particulars, but can state positively its expenditure was for the city's interest, and $22.50 reimbursed me for personal expenses incurred in the city's benefit.

The item of $177.00 for bill of special counsel retained in the Boyce matter is a bill that I know nothing about, as it must have been paid after I went out of office. However, this special attorney was engaged by me to look after the city's interests. The City of Kingston had a claim against bonding companies on their bonds issued to the city bonding the City Treasurer. When I took office, I found that two of these companies were in the hands of receivers and were Connecticut corporations, with receivers' offices at Hartford, Conn. In order to secure the city's interests, it was necessary for me to go to Hartford and stay there long enough to find out what was to be done. I learned that all claims had to be presented within a specified time. That time having elapsed, I secured an extension of time in which to file the city's claim. I also saw it was imperative to employ an attorney at Hartford, Conn., to look after the city's interests. I turned the matter over to Judge Heener, whose standing at the Connecticut Bar is similar to that of our Judge Clearwater. It was shortly after this that I went out of office. The statement of Mr. Brinnier evidently is intended to give the impression that the engagement of special attorney was for attending to local matters, which is not an honest statement by him.

As to the expenses to Hartford for $11.57, they were absolutely proper and only reimbursed me for actual expenses.

Mr. Brinnier says, "Cases tried, none." He personally knows that this is not true. Brinnier and Canfield commenced an action in behalf of Mrs. Louise Sully Denier against the City of Kingston to recover several thousand dollars for damages to her sawmill on account of damming the waters of Cooper Lake. This action was tried in Brinnier and Canfield's office before the Hon. Charles Davis as referee, and I personally defended the action on behalf of the city. The case was rested by plaintiff. An adjournment was asked by plaintiff's attorney each time it came up for trial. In the meantime, an election had been held in this city at which Mr. Canfield, Mr. Brinnier's law partner, was elected Mayor. The cause was adjourned again on the request of Mr. Brinnier. My term of office expired. Mr. Brinnier was appointed Corporation Counsel. The city thereafter never defended this case, but it was settled by the city paying Brinnier & Canfield's client a goodly sum of the city's money. Plaintiff was not entitled to recover one cent.

Mr. Brinnier's statement that his office was administered with economy. The above facts do not bear out this statement, together with the following facts, namely: Since Mr. Brinnier has been Corporation Counsel of the City of Kingston, drawing a salary of $125.00 a month, he has been eighteen months out of the United States, for which he has been paid by the city the sum of $2,250.00, without any service whatever to the city. Up to January 1, 1920, Mr. Brinnier will have received $9,000.00 from the city. This is the kind of economy that pleases Mr. Brinnier.

I also desire to refer to Mr. Brinnier's camouflage as it appears in the advertised statement of your paper of October 23rd. In that statement, it is alleged that I was Corporation Counsel in 1913, and as Corporation Counsel it was my duty to draw the bonds of the city officials to give protection to the public, and he sets forth a statement of an alleged examination of official affairs of Kingston as made by examinees of municipal accounts from the office of the State Comptroller. He lists bonds of John T. Cummings, City Clerk, justification of undertaking not in proper form; bond of N. Frank O'Reilly, City Judge, justification not in proper form; bond of Charles D. Deyo, Recorder, body of undertaking and sureties' justification not in complete form; bond of John F. Hallinan, City Engineer, not in proper form and not under seal; bond of James V. Simpson, Superintendent of Streets, not in proper form; bond of Richard Murphy, unpaid tax collector, not in proper form; bond of Joseph A. Sheppard, City Treasurer, not under seal and not in complete form; bond of E. Metzger, not in proper form as required by Section 11 of the Public Officers' law, not under seal. And he states further it will appear that not a single bond given by the said officials in 1913, when I was Corporation Counsel, including my own, was properly drawn by me.

In reply to this, I will state that all the foregoing officers excepting myself were in office and their bonds filed before I became Corporation Counsel. In reference to my bond, I will state that if Mr. Brinnier will refer to the statutes, he will find that a surety bond for the faithful performance of duty is not required to be under seal. So that the carelessness and negligence charged to me is another gross misstatement and published to deceive the people.

If this election is to be between Mr. Metzger for Mayor, and Mr. Brinnier, I am satisfied to leave that to the voters to choose which they want to manage the city's business affairs. I am not a candidate for the office of Corporation Counsel, but a candidate for the office of Mayor of this city.

eral thousand dollars for damages to her sawmill on account of damming the waters of Cooper Lake. This action was tried in Brinnier and Canfield's office before the Hon. Charles Davis as referee, and I personally defended the action on behalf of the city. The case was rested by plaintiff. An adjournment was asked by plaintiff's attorney each time it came up for trial. In the meantime, an election had been held in this city at which Mr. Canfield, Mr. Brinnier's law partner, was elected Mayor. The cause was adjourned again on the request of Mr. Brinnier. My term of office expired. Mr. Brinnier was appointed Corporation Counsel. The city thereafter never defended this case, but it was settled by the city paying Brinnier & Canfield's client a goodly sum of the city's money. Plaintiff was not entitled to recover one cent.

Back Hares in Combat.
An Australian correspondent describes "a dinkum stand-up fight" between two hares. They were met on their hind legs and with their front paws, squinting, ducking, uppercutting in pugilistic fashion, for the prize of a carrot. When one hare was minded to pounce on the other, he would strike with his tail.

Agile Rhinoceros.
The rhinoceros, notwithstanding its clumsy shape and short legs, is one of the most agile of beasts. A horseman was scarcely able to overtake it, and in strength it is perhaps unsurpassed by any animal in the forest. In a single leap an animal of the rhinoceros can stand up against it. To kill a rhinoceros a rifle ball must strike behind the shoulder.

Cultivating Sugar Cane.
The methods of cultivating sugar cane in Trinidad are becoming more and more modern through the introduction of American plants and cultivation. The cane is now being cultivated in a more scientific manner, and the results are being very satisfactory.

Why She Seeks a New Home.
This Chicago woman says that the reason she is looking for another home is because she is tired of her present place. She is a railroad engineer who wants the government to take over all the railroad houses and let the engineers run them.—Galveston News.

Curious Collection of Bones
In the prison at Lyons, France, there is a curious collection of bones. These are the bones which the prisoners, who are sentenced to the guillotine, are given to eat. The bones are collected and preserved in a museum at the prison.

COMPANY M BOYS
ARE ORGANIZED SALOONS KEEP OPEN TUESDAY

Sunday afternoon the members of old Company M, who served during the world war, met at the armory and organized by electing Thomas Coughlin, president; Sergeant Bernard Roach, vice president; Sergeant Edward Gschwind, secretary; and Sergeant Edward D. Fitzgerald, treasurer. The newly organized society decided to co-operate with the Red Cross in its membership campaign. The question of having a bronze tablet erected at the armory, similar to the one there, to contain the names of all members of Company M who left for the world war was also discussed. Captain Pancoast Kipper, who commanded the boys while they were in Spartanburg, was elected an honorary member of the society.
